Before everything, there was a myth about the creation of the world
Long ago, there was a god called Fable.
The lonely Fable used his remaining powers
To create this universe
After creating the universe, Fable thought it cold and empty.
And so he created human beings to inhabit it.
Fable created different kinds of people, blessed and cursed people.
Their fates decided by birth
If they are cursed, they are to be cursed forever
If they are blessed, they are blessed forever
And Fable shows a morality within both the cursed and blessed people
They were to be forged into a rarer, special kind of people.

Fable distributed his powers to them.

Faith's strength

Only those who have the world's power

Can become Fable.

And this is
